EAST ST. LOUIS ENDEAVORING TO CHOOSE ITS ALDERMEN TO-DAY.

Lively Scenes at the Various Polling Places-A Number of Colored Voters, Who Met with Exciting Adventures—The Township Elec-tion—Full Ticket—The Probable Result—

Although it was generally expected that the election in East St. Louis to-day would be a quiet and uninteresting affair it proved to be quiet and uninteresting affair it proved to be just as exciting as the elections of previous years. The complicated state of politics, and the promise that the election would be conducted fairly, lent additional interest, and made it impossible to determine beforehand with any decrease of correlative what the result would be gree of certainty what the result would be.
The action of the Knights of Labor in nominating a full ticket would, it was thought several weeks ago, cause a revolution in city politics, and the fact that there was a split in the present administration made it all the more probable that the Knights ould have an easy victory. The strike, however, caused a decided change in the state of affairs. The railroad men became in need of the assistance of the present authorities. The authorities were not slow to

In the Second Ward the only candidates in the field were Lewis Mengus and Martin Doyle, About 8 o'clock a most exiting scene occurred in this Ward. R. Baker, James Gentry, Henry Russell, Al Layton and Robert Adams, all colored men who live in the Ward, presented themselves at the poil to cast their votes. Mengus and his friends ascertained that they were supporters of Doyle and it was determined to get them away without allowing them to vote. Accordingly they were challenged, so they aver, by Pat Canty, one of the police, who insisted on then leaving immediately. They refused to go until they had voted, and Canty, according to the statement of all of them drew a revolver. week with the flowers of spring. Snow, rain and wind are sweeping over the Alleghanies. At Pittsburg, in the twenty-four hours ending last night, 3 inches of rain fell, which means that the Ohio River will have another rise in consequence. It is probable that to-night or to-morrow the storm will move down on the Atlantic and cause considerable destruction along the coast, high winds accompanying the storm's journey eastward. In this part of the country, however, the weather is clear and promises well for the next 24 hours. The lowest temperature here last night was 33 deg., a rise of 6 deg. over yesterday morning's minimum.

Under the influence of the bright April weather the signal service observers are preparing for delightful plenic parties, by moving on the lunch stands at noon in a solid phalanx. This may be rather rough on the stands, but it shows how the army is saturated with the sentiment "united we stand." It gives the station, however, a rather deserted look in the eyes of any mid-day seeker after knowl-edge.

two men composing it started into business about six weeks ago at the number mentioned above. Only one member of the firm was ever seen, the other being presumably on the road drumming up business. The "Co." was thought to be a man named Preston, but mail addressed to Albert Lincoln was claimed by the firm. They must have started in prosperously, as they received consignments, some of them fairly large, and disposed of the stuff sent to them. They dealt mainly in eggs and poultry and bought egg cases and trimmings from M. M. McKeen & Co. Recently inquiries concerning the firm have been coming in from shippers to other receivers in the city and there seemed to be considerable anxiety on the part of the shippers with regard to collect their bill which amounted to about $35, and Saturday the firm levied on the stock of Huntingdon & Co. All that could be found were some office furniture and a few egg cases which nearly amounted in value to the bill. The furniture was taken out and the office closed. Mr. Huntingdon is said to have gone to Chicago. Several consignments, which have been shipped to the firm since the office was closed, have been turned over to other commission men.

HE GROWLED

igh the Sentence Was Made Very Light in His Case. Charles Brown was up before Judge Noonan to-day on a charge of defrauding J. H. Crane, the furniture man, of $3. Brown's wife and two children were in the court-room with him and enlisted the sympathy of Judge him and enlisted the sympathy of Judge Noonan and Mr. Orane. On their account Brown was allowed to plead guilty to petit larceny, and was sentenced to five days in jail. The sentence did not at all suit Brown, who growled at his lawyer. "You ought to have a chromo thrown in with your sentence, I suppose," said Judge Noonan. "If it were not for your family, you would not get off quite so lightly as you have, my dear sir."

CINCINNATI, O., April 6.-The Senatorial Committee appointed to investigate the elec-tion of Senators in Hamilton county, finished its labors by making part of its record a certifled copy of the taily sheet and pool-book of Precinct A, Fourth Ward, and by the examina-tion of Michael Mulien, Police Inspector. The session closed with pleasant speeches on all sides, one saying that no law-suit of sixty days' duration had been conducted with less display of angry feeling.

FORKNOON SISSION, CLOSING I P. M.

Wheat—The absence of reports from the Chicago market, the Board of Trade there having adjourned for city election to-day, was severely left in the home market. Trading was very much lighter and no one was disposed to take the lead either in buying or selling, without their usual guide to show the way. This was not alone the case here, but all other markets showed little change and were reported almost lifeless, so far as speculation was concerned. The brilliant weather caused prices to weaken off here early in the day, August opening to lower. Cables were very quiet and unchanged and nothing favorable was heard from the other side. The market started off as though a good advance was at hand, but the strength petered slowly out. Liverpool spots were marked up 1-16d and were firm, with a good demand, and futures closed a point higher, having earlier sold still higher than that. Manchester reported cloths as quiet and easier and yarns quiet, with little doing. New York spots were 1-16c higher at 94c and New Orleans quiet at 84c, 3,728 bales arriving at latter market. Futures opened higher in New York, but eased off slowly atterwards. In the local market sales of 748 bales were made up to 2 o'clock, and prices were steady.

GRECIAN INDEPENDENCE.

To-day is the anniversary of the inde endence of Greece, and the occasion will be celebrated while the attention of the world is directed to that small but famous ountry as the theater of prospective war. The part which Greece has played in the drama of the world's history will always give to Grecian affairs a conspicuous place in the minds of men. The story of ancient Greece is luminous with heroic achievements and memorable for its contributions to the world's best literature and noblest art. In the highest arenas of human endeavor the example of classic Greece is a perennial inspiration. The narrative of her decline is also full of terest, and illustrated the supremacy of the mind under the blight of adverse physical conditions and the decay of material power; as when the intellectual might and charm of Greece "took captive the conquering Roman mind" and

The latest struggles of the Greeks have been within comparatively recent times, and for that reason are fraught with a fresher interest. The barbarous and odious rule of the Turks, which had to be mamtained with a ceaseless struggle, was finally thrown off after a supreme effort, involving a display of heroism and self-sad rifice that was worthy of the antique world. These final struggles of the Greeks stirred the hearts of men with a universal sympathy, and the establishment of Grecian independence was the occasion of heartfelt rejoicing wherever freedom i loved and heroism admired.

During recent times we have heard much of the degeneracy of Greece. The sombre theme inspired the melancholy muse of Byron, and lesser bards took up the strains till thousands of people were charmed into misleading conclusions as to the actual condition of that storied land. Greece has ertainly degenerated vastly from her arliest glory; but during later times there as been a sensible advance in education, agriculture, government and industrial development. Athens has to-day more schools and colleges than any city in the world of the same size; the tillage of the in mortal combat, seized each other by the soil is better than ever before, and the tail, and swallowed till nothing was left of world of the same size; the tillage of the authorities show a desire and determination to keep abreast of the times in all the

WHAT IT IS PROPER TO WEAR THIS SPRING AND SUMMER.

The Latest Things in Coats and Tro

It is interesting in noticing the fashions for men this year—and as usual the best taste in this country takes its one from London—to observe the steadfastness with which usage clings to a few primary and sensible ideas in clings to a few primary and sensible ideas in regard to men's dress, especially in coats. The great idea is to drape the figure preserving its outline and giving comfort without interfer-ing with freedom. No matter how trousers or until some total revolution in apparel takes place. The four prevailing styles of coats which have now been "in" for many years will probably remain many years more. They are the sack, the frock, the four-button cutaway and the dress coat. All of them belong to cr not. The sack or lounging coat is the most indispensible, as it is the easiest, the most desirable in active, bodily movements, and the most serviceable when anything but dignity is required. It is worn much for business. The nattiest garment that has come into vogue in recent years is the four-button cutaway, which avoids carrying around any superfluous fabric and is a compromise between dignity and ease. The Prince of Wales now wears this kind of coat on the street and on almost all occasions not formal enough for a dress suit. A frock coat is as usual serviceable on many occasions of more or less formality, especially at funerals, day weddings and for afternoon calls. They are, as a rule, becoming to tall men.

The newest thing noticed in the coats for spring and summer this season is that they all button lower and show more of the shirt and scarf. Dark sack coats with fancy trowsers will be more worn than entire suits of the same material. The very latest and most fashionable material is a sort of curly, roughish stuff, a Scotch chevlot called "niggerhead." Another new material is a black chevlot of light weight with a self-plaid. A great deal of undressed liama-cloth, generally black, will be made into coats. Entire suits of homespuns and other light colors will be worn again this season and will be fashionable. They are usually made loose and "baggy" without seams and are not lined. The coat is a sack and the trousers, like all trousers, are cut big.

a sack and the trousers, like all trousers, are cut big.

Spring overcoats are also cut loose, without being shaped in at the back, and the newest materials in use are light drabs and putty shades, some in the plain color and others in three-line diagonals. All coats are made loose, even cutaways, and hardly any smooth-surfaced cloth is used. In overcoats, black diagonals are also fashionable for spring. The spring overcoat is worn short. The long topcoats which have been in wogue the past winter will be used to some extent in traveling.

winter will be used to some extent in traveling.

THE DRESS SUIT.

Some of the cleverest men of the country have been hostile to swallow-tails, and there are a number of prominent men who can be persuaded to don a dress suit only with the greatest difficulty, and are ill at ease until they get out of it. There are several infuential gentlemen who refuse to wear dress suits under any circumstances. But the dress suit as a democratic institution and social leveler is coming more and more into general use, and there is now hardly a prosperous mechanic or clerk who is without this insignia of formal respectability which a few years ago was confined to fashionable swells, waiters and theater ushers. The great argument in favor of the present dress suit is that it gives uniformity in evening dress and recognizes no distinctions of class or caste. Rich and poor, waiter and millionaire are dressed alike and serve to dilustrate to the fullest extent the doctrine that clothes do not make the man. Democracy seems to be at the bottom of the phenomenon. Carlyle, in "sartor Resartus," takes a poetic forecast of the importance of dress. As democracy extends, so the uniform infiexible sway of the black cloth suit for men extends with it, and there are signs that among women the same causes are at work that may bring the same causes are at work that may bring about similar results.

UNCHANGEABLE BLACK.

It requires the most determined efforts now to keep women from lapsing into a uniform garment—the black silk, which is as inconspicuous and colorless as the dress suit. For some time a new departure has been threatened in the dress suit and a great deal has been said about the introduction of colored dress suits, but all the efforts in that direction have come to naught. It is doubtful if even the prestige of the Prince of Wales could make any innovation popular. The handsome small clothes, with silk stocking and shoe buckles, appear to have died so complete a death that the enactments of courts giand and France have been unavailing to reinstate it. It seems harder to make a fortune —nay, to keep it—than to infringe on the tyranny of man's costume for the evening and the majority of men secretly resent the enterprise of those youths who, devoting their whole souls to their wardrobe, try to make innovations as smail as glit buttons for the waistocat or a diagonal instead of asmooth cloth for the coat or a deep purple instead of absolute black cloth. The eternal monotony of dress suits has long been a distress to tallors, and as the average life of a good dress suit is four or five years there are few of them who would not welcome a change.

INNOVATIONS DISCOURAGED.

But there is to be no change. Even the little innovation of white waistocats seem ephemeral. In one of the latest photographs of the Earl of Rosebery, who stands at the top of the notch socially and is married to the helress of the Rothschilds, he appears in a plain black dress suit, with a black waistecat and no ornament, not even a watch-chain. A tailor who has just returned from abroad made diligent inquiry in London as to any possible variations in the dress suit, and was unable to hear of any except the introduction to some extent of fancy waistcoats and embroidery in colors and fancy buttons on white waistcoats. Dress trousers, like all other trousers, are being made a little wider, with a slight spring over the instep. Broad bands down the side are not so much used in fashlonable circles as they were.

The one novelty of the season, and curiously enough it lies in the realm of the dress suit, is the dress sack. It appears that in England notions will be indulged in. The favorise curis are made for link stude.

FANCY WAISTOOATS.

The one garment, however, upon which the attention and interest of fashionable young men will be concentrated this season, is the waisteoat. Fancy waisteoats are the furor in London. In the elegant establishments in this city, fancy vests of the most wonderful patterns are being made up for the fashionable young D'Orsays of the town. Among patterns are the "Mikado," showing a Japanese head and umbrelia worked through the fabric; the "Elephant," showing that animal as a desigh in various attitudes; the "Peacock," a very beautiful and striking pattern, and many more. For full dress, the white vests have blue and other colored embroidery. Some of the material used for waisteoats is as gorgeous as anything seen on the stage. These fancy vests will be worn through the spring and summer with dark coats. Fancy buttons will be all the rage and a great deal of individual taste will be exercised in this direction. For white vests gilt, button cord, milk stone, lovry, ebony, coral, agate and even porphyry buttons will be used. Some gentlemen have three or four sets of fancy buttons to wear with their waisteoats. The colored and figured waisteoats, which in some cases will be made double breasted, will also be worn with ornamental buttons.

Low-cut patent leather shoes will be as fashionable as ever for summer, though buttoned gaiters for general wear remain the favorite style. Some of the most fashionable men are going back to square toes, and pointed toes are said to be quite tabooed in the best circles in London.

This morning the office of the Chief Postoffice Inspector, of the St. Louis division, was taken charge of by Mr. T. M. Harris of Kansas (City. The idea of having a race meet at the meeting of the Division in May is generally being looked upon with disfavor. It is everywhere conceded that it would be an inappropriate time for either club to attempt to carry out such a scheme, on account of the unsettled condition of the makers' amateur question, the business attending the assembling of the League, both in State and National council, and the restrictions that hamper the two clubs. The Missouri's see it very plainly and have resolved under any circumstances not to give a meet, feeling that they have all they can attend to in getting settled in in their new club-house. The Ramblers have an equally strong opposite motive in refraining from any entanglement that may prevent them from getting firmly fixed in their new headquarters—the saddle. As the case now stands the clubs of the city have plenty to occupy their attention in putting forth all their energies to secure the League meet next year, and in keeping spon its perch the beautiful bird.

The latest sensation in America is that the "late" Lord Aylesford is not really dead. The supporters of this theory say that the news of his death reached a New York morning paper in a telegram from a correspondent at Big Springs, Tex., who was absolutely unknown, and that a week later Lord Aylesford's secretary arrived in New York with a coffin, and sailed next day with it for England. Ex-Judge Laughlin, Messrs. Lodge and Taity appears for Mr. Breckenridge and Mrs. Breckenridge is represented by Messrs. Dyer, Lee and Ellis. Judge Laughlin before the lunch recess made the opening statement in the case. He said that for many years the mental condition of Mrs. Breckenridge had been a matter of serious concern to her family. They resided in an old-fashioned house, on the corner of Lucas and Garrison avenues. Her husband allowed her 33,000 per annum for the household expenses, out of which she managed to accumulateseveral thousand dollars. One of her eccentricities was to tie the money up in rags and keep it in a dressing-case drawer within the reach of everybody. Once during her absence from the city one of the sons for safety sake took the bundle down to the mill to be placed in the safe and his father had it transferred to the Safe Deposit vaults. is a sovereign remedy. It does not debilitate the liver by over stimulation, nor irritate the stomach and bowels by disturbing the delicate processes of digestion, neither does it act with severity upon the blood; but it operates so gently, insensibly, and yet with so much certain ty, that it excites the surprise and admiration of all who use it. They should be taken in small doses, and their use perseveringly followed until the bowels are properly regulated.

One of the foremost physicians in Boston called it a tumor of the stomach, and treated me for that nearly killing me with physic; another, a homeopathle physician, thought I had consumption. When taken sick I weighed 187 pounds. I suffered from a heavy cough, night-sweats, kidney troubles, etc., and was reduced so rapidly that my physicians gave me up. They were unable to help me in the least. At that time I weighed but, minety pounds, and had not been able to lie down, but had to sit up in order to breathe. I had been confined to my room for six months, expecting to die. I was so bad at times that I could not talk; nor was I able to walk. I picked up one of your memorandam books on the floor of the hotel where I was boarding, and after reading it I began tak ing your Golden Medical Discovery, and the fairst bottle brought me around so that I could walk around the room all day. W. J. Hartley, Vera Cruz, Ala., writes:
"I met with an old friend of mine not long since, and he told me of the very low state of health he had been in and he applied to our best doctor, but gradually grew worse under his treatment; was reduced to a skeleton, had a fearful cough and was thought to have consumption. While in this low state he made a visit to see his relations, and while in a distant town, he purchased a bottle of medicine called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and took it, and by the time it was used he

Heart Disease.

THOMAS RULAND, Esq., East Benton, Lackawana County, Pa., writes: "Three years ago I was a dreadful sufferer from consumption and liver complaint. I exhausted the skill of several physicians and was quite discouraged. Doctors and friends alike thought I must die. I had a dreadful cough and raised a considerable amount of blood and matter; besides, I was very thin and so weak that I could scarcely walk around the house. At this time I read in the New York Weekly of the wonderful cures performed by your Golden Medical Discovery. I procured the medicine named, and began using it in connection with the Pleasant Purgative Pellets. Under their influence I recovered my health completely. I would also say that your Discovery cured my grandchild of heart disease."

Rev. Sidney C. Davis, Galien, Michigan, writes: "I wish, in this letter, to express my gratitude for Mrs. Davis and myself for the great good which has been accomplished in her case by the use of your proprietary medicines. When she began to take them, in January last, she could not endure the least jar, could walk but a very few steps at a time, and could stay up only about thirty minutes at a time. Now she not only sits up almost the entire day, but can walk, cail on her neighbors two or three blocks away, and not feel any injurious effects at all. When we consider that she had kept her bed the greater part of the time for four teen months, and would lose repeatedly the advance she had made, her progress now seems marvelous. We had almost lost confidence in medical practitioners and advertised remedies, but have found in your Dr. Plerce's Favorite Prescription and Pellets the properties needed, and which, we believe, will bring about a complete and final recovery."

While the physician is ignorant of the cause of suffering, he encourages his practice until large bills are made, when the suffering patient is no better, but probably worse for the delay, treatment and other complications made. A proper medicine directed to the cause would perhaps have entirely removed the disease, thereby instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery.

Mrs. Mary Wolf, Milan, Sullivan Co., Mo., writes: 'Nearly three years ago our little boy hurt his ankie. We doctored this as a sprain for some time, but the case steadily grew worse instead of better. We then applied to a succession of doctors, one of whom would treat it for a misplaced joint, another for bone-disease, another for something else, and so on. Amputation of the affected limb was even suggested. Last April, at which time the cuild had not had his foot on the floor since the previous December we placed him under the influence of your Golden Medical Discovery, and the approvement was immediate, and in a short time he was able to walk with the aid of crutches. Formerly his ankie would swell and pain him, and was so very weak that a high fever would result; but since commencing the use of your Discovery he has had not a single one of these spells. In four months from the time he commenced the use of the Discovery he threw his crutches away, for he was well.'

THE UNION PACIFIC.

EFFORTS TO ROB THE GOVERNMENT OF SE-

been found that the roads have been doing all they can to get securities now in the Treasury out of their hands, so that they will be beyond the reach of the Government claims. The ing its rights than it will ever have in the committee it has been found that the Union Pacific Railroad has paid reluctantly and with bitter complaints as to the injustice of the Thurman act, the following amounts on account of interest on its debts to the General Government: In 1880, $1,770, $1,821, $1,633,538, 1882, $2,907,190; 1883, $1,809,184; 1881, $1,171,110. In all $8,587,427. These sums were not sufficient to meet the annual interest on the debt, for the latter has increased from $45,673,488 on December 31, 1880, to $46,129,900 December 31, 1880; to latter has increased from $45,673,488 on December 31, 1880, to $46,129,900 December 31, 1881; to $46,676,001, December 31, 1882; to $47,407,553 December 51, 1883, and to $48,864,250 December 31, 1884—an average increase of $800,000 per year, and at the same ratio the debt will be at maturity over $60,000,000.

In the same period there have been paid to the stockholders in dividends, as follows, the sum of $16,708,645, nearly double what has been paid to the Government: In 1880, $3,045,738; 1881, $4,076,134; 1882, $4,260,788; 1883, $4,260,788; report, page 150), the Government directors report—that "it was suddenly discovered that the floating debt had reached the enormous sum of $13,110,120," against which the Union Pacific Company had assets: Cash. $1,192,070; stock, bonds, etc., $2,104,333; bills and accounts receivable (mostly advances to branch lines and hence not available), $2,913,419; "leaving a net floating debt of $6,900,177" on the books and, actually, over about $9,800,000. This condition of affairs was brought about, say the Government directors (page 150, Union Pacific Report, 1884), by earnings being "devoted and diverted to dividend purposes on the acquisition of lateral lines." The Government directors ignore the fact that the Union Pacific directors, in criminal violation of the United States Pacific Railroad laws of 1873, issued $10,000,000 Union Pacific stock at par, and in 1879, $4,682,000 6 per cent collateral trust bonds, and in 1883 $7,19,000 5 per cent collateral trust bonds to acquire branch lines. It is likely that the stock panic of the spring of 1884 had as much to do, in its destruction of credit, with the suspension of dividends by the Union Pacific as the sudden discovery of the immense floating debt of nearly $10,000,000. Yet the people are gravely assured by Mr. Chas. F. Adams, Jr. (elected a director in March, 1883, and President in June, 1884), and who certainly acquiesced in the last four quarterly dividends (page 164, Union Pacific Report, 1886), that "it is true that recently one or more dividends have been declared which had not previously been fairly earned is one which had been only advanced through ignorance or malice. It would not stand a moment's legal investigation."

CONTRADICTORY DECLARATIONS.

It will be observed that these two declarations contradict each other as to the legal right to pay dividends, the Supreme Court confirming in 1879 the legality of the Thurman act, thus refers to dividends for a very considerable portion of it from time to time among its stockholders as such, have no property righ rent earnings belong to the corporation, and stockholders, as such, have no right to them as against the just demands of creditors."

As to the legal right to pass dividends Mr. C. F. Adams, Jr., director and President of the Union Pacific Raliroad, and the Supreme Court of the United States differ. While the road has been lavish in paying $1,708,645 in dividends and creating an enormous floating debt of $9,800,000 and so very niggardly in paying $5,857,427 on account of interest on its debt to a generous Government, it pays out over $15,000,000 in interest on sinking fund collateral, trust, land and Kanass Pacific consolidated bonds, all being inferior to the Government claim in priority of Men.

Not only have the holders of the land grant bonds received regularity their 7 per cent interest, but they have actually been paid a premium of 12 per cent to allow the company to pay them face value of their bonds. From 1880 to 1884 about $3,000,000 of these land bonds, not due until 1887 to 1889, have been anticipated, and a premium of $374,000 paid to the holders of the second mortgage are given preference to the holders of the casest covered by the second mortgage are given preference to the holders of the assets covered by the second mortgage are soid and unbinshingly used in buying at a premium of 12 per cent the claims of an inferior lien which, if the second lien was foreclosed, would be valueless. The result is obvious. Of the princely land grant of the Union Pacific Raliroad, but $1,625,630 worth of land remains, and $11,980,666 worth of the Kanass Pacific Raliroad Company's, as there have been apid in 1889 128,484 acres at $4 about per acre, $237,764; in 1881, 189,886 acres at $4 about per acre, $200,000 of the claim grant bondshave been apid in 1889 218,484 acres at $4 about per acre, $200,000 of the claim of $48,864,280. If no steps are taken to secure these sales and of preceding years, the land grant bondshave been apid in the proceeds of the sales, and to have the benefit of proceeds of all sales of the cure & per cent collateral trust, $2,515,000; Utah & Northern bonds, good; $3,220,000 Colorado Central bonds, good; $9,200,000 Colorado Central bonds, good; $1,922,000 Omaha & Republican Valley bonds, good; to secure the 5 per cent collateral trust, $1,474,000 Colorado Central, good; $2,551,000 Utah & Northern, good; $7,500 Utah Southern, good; $7,500 Utah Southern, good; $7,500 Utah Southern, good; $1,596,000 Denver & South Park (D. & S. Park carned in 1884 $294,000 less than operating expenses).

The remainder of the famous $35,000,000 mostiy do not appear to be valuable, if their earnings are proper criterion. The Oregon Short line bonds are owned by the Union Pacific to the extent of $2,195,000 out of $14.40,000. This road is 610 miles long, and earned in 1834 $285,639, and as Union Pacific suarantees these bonds, its ownership of $3,195,000 not only brought in no revenue, but entailed an outlay of $446,600 to meet $725,340 interest on the outstanding $19,300,000 bonds. Yet, as Mr. C. F. Adams sagely remarks (page 43, U. P. Report, 1884): "The earnings of the Oregon Short Line during 1838 and 1836 as an incomplete line has been encouraging."

Is this midsummer madness? If this Administration means to protect the interests of the people to secure what it can of the wreck, it would be well to investigate the construction of these feeders, commencing in 1878, and to find out whether the issue of stock in 1861, of bends in 1884 and the indorsement of Oregon Short Line bonds are criminal matters, and whether they are yet barred by the statute of limitation. DALLAS, TEX., April 5.—Nearly forty-five years ago a solitary cabin stood on the banks or the Trinity River, and one standing in its or the Trinity River, and one standing in its doorway could look over mile after mile to-ward any point of the compass and see no other human habitation. Nature here spread forth her beauties in lavish profusion, but, with the exception of a single hunter, no one was here to admire the beautiful panorama spread out before the gaze, and the silence of ight was unbroken, save by the sharp yelp of the prairie wolf as he skulked along seeking his food, or the mournful note of the whip-poor-will. But the scene has passed as a dissolving view, and now in the same spot stants a populous city of nearly 35,000 souls, surrounded by all the refinements and cultivation that wealth and education give to any community. Dallas is situated in the very heart of one of the best agricultural regions in the State, and the numerous farm-houses that are to be seen dot-ting the hills and plains for miles in either direction, by their substantial construction One has but to notice how the farmer in Texas soon surrounds himself and household with every comfort that goes to make life pleasant and happy, to at once arrive at the very natural conclusion that of all the varied ways of gaining a competence, that of the Texas and happy, to at once arrive at the very natural conclusion that of all the varied ways of gaining a competence, that of the Texas farmer is among the best.

Dalias has not reached the present sound financial basis on which she stands without a laborious struggle. Some cities have sprung into existence in a remarkably short period of time, and have seemed to grow with wonderful speed, but often they have gone beyond the requirements of their day, and have dropped back instead of going forward. Not so with Dalias. Her growth has been, for a number of years, slow but sure, and she has to-day a solidity that shows her prosperity is not all a thing of the present, but that a brilliant and prosperous futurels, without a doubt, to be the portion of her inhabitants.

The present prosperity of Dalias is due to the enterprise of her merchants, and while, perhaps, they have not been the sole cause, yet it is the wealth they control, that makes the steady growth of the city so marked. Every one seems to vie with his neighbor as to of the place. Any public move that is made, looking to the benefit of the town, finds at once a host of supporters, and all work together in a spirit of thorough concord and harmony. Self is sunk out of sight, and it is Dallas and her interests that receive all the attention. As a natural consequence the city has earned high name for enterprise, and the public spirit displayed by her clitzens has already placed her far in advance of all her sister cities in the State on the road to greatness.

First in the rank of interest comes the agricultural implement trade. Kansas city has been classed the greatest depot for these supplies that are stored here and thence shipped to the Indian Territory, Texas, Mexico and New Mexico. count up, when bunched, into the thousands of carloads. The capital invested here, and they in turn send their drummers in every direction.

Then the wholesale grocery houses come in as an important part of the city's interests. Schneider & Davis, T. L. Marsaiis & Co. and Armstr PARIS, April 6.—Dr. Wm. Kemble, who escaped from the jail, left a note in his cell stating that he would come back in June and stand his trial for the murder of James Benning.

spent with great freedom. Nigardliness is not one of the characteristics of the native Texan, but, on the contrary, his heart is overflowing with generous impulses.

Dallas has her 'F. W. Humphrey' in Reinhart & Co. Their establishment is copied after our fashionable clothier, and, like 'Famous,' they make money fly in telling the public about themselves and their interests. They control the clothing trade in the city.

FLOUR MILLS.

Perhaps nothing is more important to a city than its milling interest. To the farmer is this a feature of especjal moment, as upon it deepends his finding a ready market for his cereals.

Dallas has three as fine mills as can be found anywhere in the Southwest—two, flouring mills, with all modern improvements, and a combined capacity of 750 barrels of flour perday, and a corn meal and corn flour mill, with a capacity of 300 barrels every twenty-four hours. This makes Dallas County one of the best for the farmer to settle in. Land can be bought at all sorts of prices, and there is but very little in the county that is not susceptible of profitable tilling.

TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES.

With regard to situation, Dallas has unrivaled means for communication with all points in her own State and prominent cities throughout the United State. The Houston & Texas Central, Texas & racific, Dallas & Wichita, Texas Trunk Line, and Guilf, Colorado & Sante Fe Rallroads are all in successful operation, and the Atchison, Topeka & Sante Fe and the St. Louis & San Francisco are already arranging to come in here in the near future.

and a decree of divorce is granted Mrs. Kempi against the husband. He is likewise ordered and $10 per month hereafter. The Kempts and the court dismissed both the bill and the cross-bill. The husband charged the wife delity, and cruelty, and her cross-bill charged tolerable.

The Court holds that the husband failed to establish the charges against his wife. His evidence fell far short of satisfying any reasonable mind of the truth of his charges of infidelity. He charged his wife in public places with infidelity, and he did so at the trial, and in the most solemn and affective in the most solemn and effective manner to accomplish her disgrace he swore to it in his petition. It is not enough of reparation to her that the Court now finds these charges untrue. She had the right to say what she said on the witness stand: "I would not now live with him again even if he were of gold and silver." The husband's property is largely encumbered and his ability to earn anything has been so much disturbed by his domestic troubles and advancing years that the alimony must of necessity be small. The payment of $100 will enable Mirs. Kempf to remove the mortgage from her household effects.

The Court of Appeals. The Court of Appeals met this morning and handed down another batch of decisions which are given below. The call of the docket is completed and the court adjourned until Judge Dilion overruled to-day the motion of the defendants for a new trial of the Edwards the defendants for a new trial of the Edwards libel suit against the publishers of the Republican. A special jury returned a verdict of $5,000, in favor of Mrs. Edwards, sister of Oliver Bateman, who was stretched at Savannah for the murder of the McLaughlin children. The Court thinks that the verdict was warranted by the evidence, and there is no reason to believe that it was not the considerate and impartial finding of the jury.

A Bailroad Track Case.

Judge Dillon to-day rendered a decision in the suit of De Grange vs. Lindell Railroad Company. The Court understands that under an allegation of negligence, the Court holds of them clear and free from obstruction, and its negligence in not doing so, the demurrer is over-ruled.

A Case for Creditors. Judgments in favor of the defendants was rendered to-day by Judge Dillon in the suit of Geo. S. Harris and others against Otto Moser and others. While the Court does not think Wronged Wife's Response Sustained—A Judge Lubke to-day rendered a decision in the contested divorce case of Jacob against contested divorce case of Jacob against the time of the assignment gave the bank, the mortgagee, a right superior to the plaintiffs.

Judge Dillon to day decided the case of Hedges et al. vs. Wear. The evidence satisfied the Court that the purpose of the plaintiffs in securing an interest in the property was to destroy the paper which was a rival in business of the one owned by the plaintiffs. They did not wish to be admitted to a voice in the management of the property for the purpose of making a success of the enterprise but on the contrary the real object was to secure such a standing as would enable them to have the paper discontinued. The court thinks that as a matter of business the purpose was probably not objectionable but the plaintiffs have no right to invoke the aid of a court of equity to aid them in carrying out such an object. The injunction is dissolved and the petition is dismissed.
